A little space for a big idea.

A file starts as a document. A gesture makes it an image.

Crop the part that matters. Add a little color.

Make something worth sharing.

This is a local test fixture, created for this application.

The original always stays right where you left it.

